

Curtiss-Wright Wins $7.3 Million Order From United Defense

Contract to Provide Embedded Computing Systems for the Bradley Fighting Vehicle

ROSELAND, N.J., Sept. 7 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Curtiss-Wright Corporation (NYSE: CW; CW.B) received a $7.3 million award from United Defense Ground Systems Division to provide embedded computing systems for the Bradley Fighting Vehicle.

The award covers the assembly, test and delivery of electronic subsystems and systems for the upgrades to the Bradley Fighting Vehicle. The Bradley upgrade program is designed to keep the fighting fleet current with technology enhancements.

"Curtiss-Wright is proud of its support for this key vehicle in our front line fighting fleet," said Martin R. Benante, Chairman and CEO. "We have a long history with the Bradley Fighting Vehicle and look forward to continued support for many years to come."

Curtiss-Wright's Motion Control segment, a leading manufacturer of mission-critical embedded computing systems for military and severe environment applications, will perform the work in Littleton, MA.
